Canada

- The S&P/TSX Composite increased 0.03% on the week led by an increase of 2.84% in the Health Care sector.
- Economists say the Canadian dollar is at a 'sweet-spot' as it is now trading at its highest level, since February 2018. It's been above 80 cents US since last week.

United States

- The S&P/500 Composite increased 0.02% on the week.
- US consumer sentiment continued to strengthen in late April, adding to signs that household spending will remain strong in the coming months. The University of Michigan's final sentiment index improved to 88.3 from a March figure of 84.9. Consumer confidence is strengthening as vaccinations quicken and more states and businesses reopen.
- US personal incomes soared in March by the most in monthly records back to 1946, powered by a third round of pandemic-relief checks that also sparked a sharp gain in spending. The 21.1% surge in incomes followed a 7% decline in February, Commerce Department figures showed Friday.
